Taboo Theatre Company presents

Colder Than Here

by Laura Wade

"I walked in and she's sat in the coffin. In the middle of the living room, and she's - she's watching telly and laughing!"

Nobody can ignore the fact that Myra Bradley is dying, but life has to go on - there are boilers to be fixed and cats to be fed, and the family is finally forced to communicate with each other.

Taboo Theatre is a small touring company established four years ago and based in Dorset. They prefer to perform in small intimate venues to create a rapport with their audiences.
